OFFICE Los Angeles

Anthony Gooneratne brings decades of experience as a trial specialist to the Larson team.

At his previous firm, Anthony prepared cases for trial and attended over 50 civil jury trials with lead trial counsel while defending professional liability and catastrophic injury cases against some of the premier healthcare institutions, public and private universities, and physicians in Southern California.

Some of the more notable trials and litigation that Anthony participated in as lead trial specialist include a wrongful death lawsuit brought by late actor John Ritter's estate claiming $80 million in damages, a Hollywood Botox lawsuit brought against a famed Beverly Hills dermatologist and Allergan Pharmaceuticals, and a sexual harassment class action lawsuit brought by more than 850 plaintiffs against a top private university in Los Angeles.

Outside of the office, Anthony is an ardent Lakers and Duke basketball fan, and enjoys spending time with his family.
