OFFICE Los Angeles

Brett Meyerhoff represents clients at both the trial and appellate level, with experience across a broad range of legal matters including trademark infringement, antitrust exclusive dealing and monopolization, trade secret misappropriation, and breach of contract.

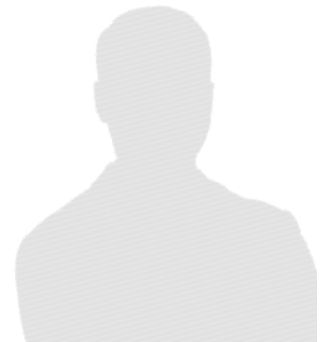

At the trial level, Brett has won numerous dispositive motions, first-chaired a jury trial, second-chaired a bench trial, and defended clients in both state and federal court. At the appellate level, he has drafted numerous briefs before the United States Courts of Appeals as well as the California Courts of Appeal, and has successfully argued before the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals. Brett has also assisted with amicus briefs in criminal procedure cases, including to the U.S. Supreme Court.

He maintains an active pro bono practice, including the representation of individuals in immigration proceedings.

Brett served as a law clerk to the Honorable Johnnie B. Rawlinson of the US Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. While in law school, he served as a judicial extern to the Honorable William R. Dorsey of the US Department of Labor, Office of Administrative Law Judges. Brett was also a managing editor of the UCLA Journal of Environmental Law and Policy, a legal extern at SAG-AFTRA, and a legal research and writing advisor for first-year law students.

Brett's Representative Matters

- Successfully represented a plaintiff in a two-week jury trial in a breach of contract case, serving as the joint first-chair and achieving a complete verdict in favor of plaintiff after the jury deliberated for under an hour (California Superior Court, Los Angeles County, 2024)
- Part of a cross-office appellate team that represented a major online short-term rental platform in a landmark matter interpreting the California Coastal Act of 1976. The plaintiff sought a state-wide injunction concerning all short-term rentals located within California's 1,100 mile-long coastal zone. After the matter had been dismissed by the trial court, the team won affirmance on appeal. (California 2nd District Court of Appeal, Division Three, 2023)
- In the United States Immigration Court, acted as lead counsel and secured asylum on behalf of a pro bono client. (United States Immigration Court, 2023)
