PRACTICE AREA:

Intellectual Property and Patent Litigation

We protect the valuable ideas and innovations that drive our clients' businesses and growth.

Larson's reputation for winning high-stakes trials and its attorneys' substantial patent litigation experience are critical assets when it comes to achieving success for our clients.

We aggressively protect the originality of our clients' creations in patent, copyright, trade secrets, and trademark disputes. Our attorneys handle intellectual property disputes across industries ranging from financial services to real estate, to software and technology.

We team with industry experts to develop and implement a comprehensive case strategy that simplifies complex technologies for juries and judges, placing our clients – whether patent owner or defendant – in the best position to win at every stage of litigation.

Established technology companies and startups, media and entertainment companies, advertisers, entrepreneurs, actors, musicians, and public figures regularly call on Larson to litigate claims related to trade theft, patent infringement, false advertising, and misappropriation of ideas and trade secrets.

Our patent litigation attorneys pair their acute understanding of cutting-edge technologies and industry acumen with decades of courtroom experience on both sides of the bench. Larson attorneys have litigated patent cases in all major venues across the country, including the Northern and Central Districts of California, Eastern and Western Districts of Texas, the District of Delaware, and the Eastern District of Virginia; the firm's founder has adjudicated patent cases as a U.S. District Judge in the Central District of California. Our patent litigation team also has substantial experience at the International Trade Commission (ITC) and Patent Trial and Appeal Board (PTAB).

Our attorneys have litigated patent cases involving a wide array of technologies, including:

- Semiconductors
- Software applications
- Electronic devices
- Medical imaging and diagnostics
- Orthopedic surgical Implants
- Cardiovascular devices
- Telecommunications
- Energy management
